

Moving Images Outreach

Each session: 120 mins with break and refreshments

Venue: The Substation Theatre, for film screening, lecture and discussion

Capacity: minimum 20 pax, maximum 100

The Substation is not just a place for experimental art forms – it is also a nurturer of independent filmmaking and expression using the film and video medium through our Moving Images film programme. Besides organizing film festivals, talks and mentorship opportunities, we also offer workshops and seminars on understanding film, film production, film as a tool for communication, and exclusive sessions with local filmmakers to learn about their personal experiences. Let us know how we can tailor our events to suit your needs.

Topics Offered:

1. Reel Revolution: Social Issues and the Film Medium
2. Singapore Filmmaker Focus
3. An Overview of the Singapore Film Industry
4. Film Art and Appreciation
5. Introduction to Filmmaking

Objectives:

- * To equip students with an appreciation of the craft and aesthetics of the film medium
- * To enhance students' appreciation of Singapore films and the role that film plays in expressing our cultures and identity
- * (beginner level courses): To introduce students to the aesthetics and craft of film
- * (intermediate level courses – for students with some knowledge of using film/video): To provide additional learning opportunities in various aspects of filmmaking, eg. storytelling skills
